GENERAL NOTES TO ISSP MEMBERS

1. All notes which are not part of the questionnaire and intended only for members (for example, translation notes, TN) are enclosed in double, square brackets [[like these]].
2. All the elements in questions which require local adaptation are enclosed in angle brackets. These instructions often relate to adding the name of the relevant country. For example, in Australia “Generally, how would you describe taxes in <country> today?” would read “Generally, how would you describe taxes in Australia today?”
3. Every question starts with a reference between square brackets to earlier Social Inequality questionnaires: A=1987, B=1992, C=1999, D=2008 (=pretest). The reference also contains the ITEM NAME (which refer to names in merged datafile). For example: [[AHEAD16: C,D]] “To get all the way to the top in <country>, you have to be corrupt.” This question was only asked in the Social Inequality module 1999 and in the pretest 2008.
4. For questions for which no “Can’t choose” is provided, code non-productive or missing answer to -99.
5. A fully harmonized file with data of all three previous ISSP Social Inequality rounds (1987, 1992, 1999) and the 2008 pretest is available at: <http://home.fsw.vu.nl/HBG.Ganzeboom/issp2009>.
6. The Social Inequality IV module proper consists of 47 attitudinal questions and 13 background questions. To be consistent we also present 3 standard background questions that are strongly related to the module questions. In addition, we offer 4 background questions and 6 attitudinal questions as options. Note that according to ISSP rules the 47 attitudinal questions of the module proper need to be presented to the respondents consecutively, the background questions, both standard and optional, as well as the optional attitudes can be put in where it fits best. Our recommended order is: {Q24abc}, Q1-Q14ab, {Q22ab}, Q15ab, Q16abc, Q17, {Q25abc}, {Q23ab}, Q18, Q19ab, Q20, Q21ab. Variables in curly brackets {} are optional.

[[In 1992, Q4-5 asked about YEAR and BEFORE taxes, in 1999 countries could ask the Q5-6 in the way that was most customary in their country. You should follow the way that you have asked it before. If you did not participate in the 1992 and 1999 ISSP and, you may use whichever of ‘year’, ‘month’, ‘fortnight’, or ‘week’ is most customary in your nation. Use ‘before’ tax or ‘after’ tax, according to the custom in your nation. ## BACKGROUND QUESTIONS

[[TN: The background questions can be asked separately from the attitudinal questions. Country specific wording is allowed as long as it gets this information. Like other demographic and background variables, the questions can be put wherever you like in the questionnaire – they need not be with the other ISSP questions.]]

[[TN: The age reference – “when you were <14-15-16>” in the questions below – should preferably be age 15 (PISA age). Relevant arguments to deviate are (A) when the question of similar questions have been asked with a different referent age, and the alternative choice would make the questionnaire more consistent, (B) when age 14 or 16 is clearly more relevant in terms of educational or labor market choices.]]

[[TN: Countries that expect the categories in Q15a, Q16b, Q18a and Q19a not to fit their national situation, should add country specific codes. Examples: collective farming in (post)communist countries, helper in family business/farm, apprenticeships as first jobs.]]

[[TN: Answers to open alternatives in Q15a, Q16b and Q18a – if included – should be post-coded.]]

Q15a. [[FWRKTP: BCD]] When you were &lt;14-15-16&gt; years old, for whom did your father work? If your father did not have a paid job at the time, please give information about his last job before that time. (please tick one box)
